Anchor Books Doubleday & Company, Inc. Garden City, New York Some of this material previously has been published in Chicago Review, Orient/West, Tri-Quarterly, and Young East.

It gives us great pleasure to acknowledge a real debt, and deep gratitude, to Mrs. Bonnie R. Crown and Miss Susan Conheim of the Asia Society's Asian Literature Program for encouragement and help.

Lucien Stryk is indebted to the Asia Society for a grant that made possible a period of research into Asian literature and language study at Yale University. He also wishes to acknowledge the help given him by the University of Chicago, which awarded him a Ford Foundation Faculty Fellowship to pursue Indic studies related to the rise of Buddhism.

In

trying to communicate the ineffable and unexplainable the world of No-thing the philosophy of Zen, perhaps more than any other, depends on suggestive example rather than authoritative exposition. This collection presents in diverse forms of literature and experience poems, prayers, sermons, anecdotes, interviews, and talks the indefinable yet unmistakable essence of
