Part of a new six-volume series:
Great Religions of Modern Man

Hinduism

This volume presents the spiritual teachings of Hinduism—a major force in some of the most crucial areas of the world today.

Here, in a wide selection from classical and modern texts, is the full sweep of its historical development and influence. From the earliest known hymns, epics and moral treatises, through the writings of Tagore, Gandhi and Radhakrishnan, the spirit of Hinduism as a way of life is clearly presented.

Arranged historically, the selections are each prefaced by an informative introduction. The final section discusses the general role of Hinduism in Indian society, past and future.
