

jhs

Aug. 17, 1966

Dear Mrs Cottingham:

Many thanks for your kind letter, and for sharing your poem with me. I see we have come to pretty much the same conclusions. God speaks to us in our history and through the medium of our own mistakes, and there is certainly a lot of irony in the result. The end is not in sight by any means. There will be a great deal of tribulation in this land of ours. But I think the people are at heart good enough and honest enough so that, when they are finally hard enough pressed, they will wake up and try to be worthy of the trust that has been given them. At least I have this hope. But I think it is not going to happen by magic, and we will have to pay for it. Meanwhile it is good that there is so much human response and understanding-- as manifested in your letter and poem. Thank you.

And may God bless you,

jhs

Aug. 17, 1966

Dear Mrs Cottingham:

Many thanks for your kind letter, and for sharing your poem with me. I see we have come to pretty much the same conclusions. God speaks to us in our history and through the medium of our own mistakes, and there is certainly a lot of irony in the result. The end is not in sight by any means. There will be a great deal of tribulation in this land of ours. But I think the people are at heart good enough and honest enough so that, when they are finally hard enough pressed, they will wake up and try to be worthy of the trust that has been given them. At least I have this hope. But I think it is not going to happen by magic, and we will have to pay for it. Meanwhile it is good that there is so much human response and understanding-- as manifested in your letter and poem. Thank you.

And may God bless you,