

look forward in joy

JOHN — FRANCIS PHIPPS ■

LOOK FORWARD IN JOY

To Fr Thomas Merton
with the compliments
and best wishes of the author,

John Francis Higgins

London, 26: X: 65

LOOK FORWARD IN JOY

by

John-Francis Phipps

PETER SMITH

1964

Peter Smith (Publishers) Limited
24 Saint James's Chambers
Saint James's Street
Derby

First published 1964

© John-Francis Phipps

Printed in Great Britain at the Villafeld Press, Bishopbriggs, Glasgow

Contents

	PAGE
AUTHOR'S NOTE AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	ix
INTRODUCTION	xi
I EXISTENCE	1
II CONVERSION TO CHILDHOOD	17
III SCHOOL FOR SOULS	27
IV MARRIAGE, AGAPĒ AND EMPATHY	36
V TOWARDS HUMAN UNITY	50
VI TOWARDS A SPIRITUAL PSYCHOLOGY	63
VII TOWARDS MATURITY	74
VIII TOWARDS PEACE	82
NOTES	95
APPENDIX I	115
APPENDIX II	120
INDEX	121

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND by no means has the monopoly of Christian Radicals today as this controversial new book proves.

Here a young Roman Catholic intellectual imbued with the spirit of good Pope John writes about some of the great contemporary questions which are exercising the minds of thinking men both inside and outside the Church. The author stresses the present need for a genuine spiritual reawakening involving the whole man, not just his brain, but 'heart and soul' as well. Rather than 'Look Back in Anger' it is time we started to Look Forward in Joy.

'He has original things to say, radical judgments to make and controversial points to suggest. This is an attractive book.'

Dr. Erik Routley author of The Man For Others

'Cultured, erudite and lively. I read the book with mounting admiration and felt quite braced by it.'

O. Fielding Clarke author of For Christ's Sake

John-Francis Phipps was educated at Downside, Trinity College, Cambridge and Stanford University, California. He has travelled extensively in Europe and South America and was for a time Assistant Field Manager of a large sugar-cane estate in North-eastern Brazil. Finding that farming was not his vocation he turned to publishing and is now with the well-known London publishing house of Darton, Longman and Todd. Mr. Phipps is married and has three children, has a degree in Psychology, a diploma in Agriculture and is Associate Editor of Focus.

7s. 6d. net