dear tom -

haven't written, I guess, because I haven't read your book of essays yet.

The "unspeakable" for you, I think, may look into yr letters for. The most personal - what organized religion has seem to me, will be exactly what they seem to me, will be exactly what they seem to me.

Anyway, I look over my last letter now: I hope it sounds not wonderful but ok.

Matthew was ok. Matthew was ok. Matthew was ok. Matthew was ok. Matthew was ok.

The local compulsory author - you are not being harrassed. The local compulsory author - you are not being harrassed.

Baboon is ok - not wonderful but ok.

10 months now I see often he is great. So I send you my warmest wishes for the year & to you.

Take good care of yourself & write whenever you feel like it. I'd love to see in English Artard Balamer Theatre notes.

As always.

Clayton Eshleman
LACHRYMAE MATEO is the third Caterpillar, a series of publications edited by Clayton Eshleman. 100 copies of this book were mimeoed in New York City, December, 1966. Copies may be obtained through The Asphodel Bookshop, 465 The Arcade, Cleveland 44114, Ohio, or The Phoenix Bookshop, 18 Cornelia, NYC. All rights belong to the author.